The Hungarian State Institute of Geology (A Magyar Allami Foldtani Intezet) is preparing a hydrogeological map of the country. This map will show pertinent facts on all the wells of the country, such as depth, length of the water column, and water temperature.

At the same time, a study will be put out on the water in Hungarian wells. The advantages and disadvantages of various Hungarian well waters will be determined by laboratory tests. This data will be put to practical use in determining the remedial measures necessary to improve the water.
